

The Gospel of John SS ~ 5/18/2008

John 21:1-14

1. What are some of the unresolved issues in John's Gospel that would seem left undone if his Gospel would have ended in Jn 20:30-31?

2. When John says that Jesus "revealed himself" to the disciples in 21:1, what does he mean and how should our understanding of this opening line affect how we read what follows?

3. Where else have we seen the "charcoal fire" in the Gospel of John and what relationship does it have to the narrative in chapter 21?

4. What is the significance of the 153 fish?

5. Why did the disciples want to ask who Jesus was if they already knew he was the Lord?

6. Do you see any connection between the Epilogue and the Farewell Discourse?
